

How I see the future of Terra and what I would like to contribute

Diversity, Balance and Joy

Once we are a spacefaring race living in a Star Trek future, I want to live in a floating city, high above the ground. Nature and artificial structures in harmony, bright colors, much light. It is a quiet environment because we have free energy and new technologies, there is no artificial noise as we know it now. There is space to move and to breathe.

Beneath the floating city, nature has restored itself much faster than expected as all previously suppressed technologies have become available. On- and off-planet technology is being used to restore nature on planet Terra. Many people from all over the world decided to help clean the water, soil and air. The humans of Terra, the people of Inner Earth and the extraterrestrials work together and live in peace.

Diversity

People continue developing solutions in all areas of our life – growing healthy food, cultivating a mindful relationship with Terra and all beings, developing consciousness, nurturing relationships of equals, caring for children, finding solutions for healthcare, reimagining knowledge transfer, rearranging communities, reshaping lifestyles, developing life-friendly technologies, enjoying life and art and music, and much more.

The diversity of solutions in all areas of life is growing and thriving. Every community has its own solutions and ways of life. Everyone can decide where and how he or she would like to live. We learn how to get along with people that act, think and feel differently.

From bottom to top instead of top to bottom: We learn how to operate bottom-up structures for the greater good of all. We remember the cruel top-down hierarchy of the past to overcome difficulties, struggles or conflicts that can occur in bottom-up processes. Diversity needs communication skills and individuals who are not afraid to engage with the unknown.

I want to meet many different people and beings to learn how diversity can manifest and how to deal with it.

Balance

Balance is a major theme for me. As I see it, diversity means variety that is constantly changing, and this constant change requires balance. I am curious to see how this aspect will develop in the future. I am ready to learn how I can contribute to balance.

I think my role will be similar to now – being a space holder for peace and unity, anchoring light and joy, adding unusual perspectives.

I want to travel, on Terra and off-planet. I like traveling now, so I will continue to do so in the future. I see myself as a traveler who has a safe and quiet base camp somewhere. Now my base camp is in Vienna, Austria, in the future it will be in a floating city. I like to travel, not so much for vacations and certainly not for military purposes, although I like to have a specific mission. I enjoy traveling somewhere for a specific purpose, perhaps to learn something or exchange information, and then extending that trip to experience other places, cultures and energies.

At my base camp in the floating city, I can't clearly see what I'm going to do. Maybe it will be something related to order, because I like everything to be in order – inside and outside. I'm not talking about an imposed order, but a natural one. Order creates free space – provided that it is a natural order inherent in the being or structure. In my current life, this manifests itself in two areas of work. I work as a Naikan guide, helping people to create order in their inner world, and I work in office services, helping people to create order in their outer world. I am curious to see how my affinity for order will manifest itself in the future.

The future as I see it offers the opportunity to work in different areas. I see myself doing different things. Maybe I will welcome people and beings when they arrive in the floating city. Maybe I will work in some kind of logistics. Maybe I will work at an observation post. I tend to stay in the background, but who knows? I'm definitely looking forward to learning a lot of things.

Joy

I want to share joy, laughter and respect. I want to see the light in smiling eyes. I want to hear the dancing melodies in giggles and laughter. I want to feel the warmth in encounters based on respect and appreciation.

I am already practicing this in my daily life. I don't wait until this future is here, but I organize my thoughts, words, actions and feelings as if the future were already here. This is how I prepare myself for the bright, peaceful and joyful future, because I know that it is difficult to change your attitude from one day to the next. Even though I have no idea how the unknown will manifest itself, I do my best to evolve and prepare for it.

Be who you are

For a long time, I wondered what I could do to manifest the Star Trek future. I have come to the conclusion that listening to the information coming from the disclosure movement and recognizing what resonates with me as truth is a way to support the path to our Star Trek future. Because what is sent must be received.

I am not one of the brave people who share their knowledge and experiences about the truth of our planet, our galaxy and our universe, but I am an antenna that can consciously receive and process the information. By receiving and processing the information, I help to anchor it in the collective.

I see the human collective of Terra as a body. Each individual is a cell in this body that plays its specific role and serves the whole. I think that we are who we are, and we just need to evolve and change the way we share our gifts.

I want to live in a world where people appreciate both the known and the unknown, and they use both as a source of joy. I want to live in a colorful and life-friendly world based on appreciation and respect. I want to live in a world where every being is simply allowed to be who they are. And I'm willing to learn all of that.

Love, peace and joy
